The overall height of this cactus, including the planter is about 13 inches and at its widest point about 23 inches. I call the blossoms pink but you can see the color in the photos. There is also a small piece of another cactus in the same planter that blooms white with pink centers. They are called Christmas cactus but usually bloom at this time of year and several other times throughout the year. For questions please call Linda at 789-7292.
