I purchased this Memory Foam Queen Mattress one year ago for my college apartment. I love this mattress - it's super comfortable - but I'm moving across the country and my new place will not be able to hold a mattress of that size.

Basically new - minor signs of wear (I think there is one small stain) I used it for 8 months out of the year.

It's compressed down in a vacuum-sealed bag since I was originally planning on taking it with me, but it's just really too big. It's easy to pickup but I can also deliver it within a reasonable area.

It's been wrapped since I came back from school (pet free housing), but I did store the rolled and bagged mattress in a home that has a German Shepherd.
