Grandpa had this with him in Guam and then in Greenland as a civilian contractor during WW II. So it's a family heirloom, but unfortunately severe downsizing and a move make selling it necessary. Something this old is difficult to rate as to condition. It works, no fungal smells, the lock latch is a little twisted so don't try to lock it, Altho there is a key....it's very solid, and looks like it's been exciting places. We are in SE Olympia.
