We are redoing our kitchen with cabinets and black stainless appliances. This is our current range and it works perfect, and out new one is arriving tomorrow, so we're putting this up for sale today. We've had the aluminum foil inside the range for the 2 years we've owned it, as well as an aluminum turkey tray, so the inside is clean. The only kink in it's armor is the GE logo on the face between the dials is flaking off the crappy cover that was on there factory.
